Background and Methodology

Patrick E. Gonzales graduated magna cum laude from the University of Baltimore with a degree in political science.

His career began in the mid 1980s as an analyst with Mason-Dixon Opinion Research. Mr. Gonzales helped develop, craft and implement election surveys and exit polls for Baltimore's WMAR-TV Channel 2.

Patrick Gonzales has polled and analyzed well over a thousand elections in Maryland and across the country since that time. His polling in the 2014 Maryland gubernatorial election foreshadowed Larry Hogan's victory on Election Day.

During an interview at WBAL 1090 AM radio in Baltimore, Maryland on October 27, 2016, Mr. Gonzales was one of the very few pollsters in the nation to state publicly that Donald Trump would win the 2016 presidential election.

This poll was conducted by Gonzales Research & Media Services from August 1st through August 8th, 2018. A total of 831 registered voters in Maryland, who indicated that they are likely to vote in the November 2018 general election, were queried by live telephone interviews, utilizing both landline and cell phone numbers. A cross-section of interviews was conducted throughout the state, reflecting general election voting patterns.

The margin of error (MOE), per accepted statistical standards, is a range of plus or minus 3.5 percentage points. If the entire population was surveyed, there is a 95% probability that the true numbers would fall within this range.

Synopsis

This state has not re-elected a Republican governor in 64 years, since Theodore McKeldin did it back in 1954, and we haven't re-elected any statewide Republican since U.S. Senator Charles "Mac" Mathias won a third term in 1980.

If the Maryland election for governor were held today, GOP incumbent Larry Hogan would be re-elected, becoming a near Halley's Comet-like phenomenon.

Statewide, 52% support Republican Hogan, 36% support Democratic candidate Ben Jealous, 1% say they'll vote for either Libertarian candidate Shawn Quinn or Green Party candidate Ian Schlakman, and 11% are undecided.

Boosting Hogan's re-election effort is that voters, by a 3-to-1 margin, feel confident about the way things are going here. Sixty-three percent say things in the state are moving in the right direction, compared to 21% who think things are off on the wrong track.

Hurting Hogan's attempt is that national GOP standard bearer Donald Trump engenders harsh, negative reactions among Free State voters. Thirty-six percent have a favorable opinion of Trump, while 58% have an unfavorable opinion of him (50% "very unfavorable"). Moreover, a likewise slender 36% approve of the job Trump is doing as president, while a stout 59% disapprove (52% "strongly disapprove").

Jealous has gotten no discernible bump from his noteworthy win in June's primary. We investigated voter views to see if ill will toward Trump might give Jealous' campaign a spark, and abet his stab at the State House. Trump's negatives might ultimately help him, but only a tad.

Just 13% overall of those not yet voting for Jealous say they would "consider voting for Democratic gubernatorial candidate Ben Jealous as a way to express disapproval of Donald Trump." With Democrats, only 26% not yet voting for Jealous say they would consider doing so simply to protest Trump.

The former NAACP President will need to work out a way to infuse some pizzazz into his campaign within the next month, in order to give himself at least a modicum of momentum for the fall campaign. The burden is always on the Republican in deep-blue Maryland, but the Democrat still does need some positive thrust.

Gonzales August Poll Results

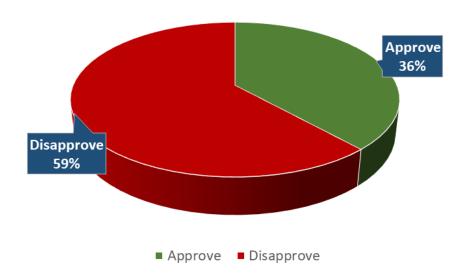

Donald Trump

President Donald Trump remains very unpopular with Maryland voters. Statewide, 36% have a favorable opinion of Trump (25% "very favorable" and 11% "somewhat favorable"), while 58% have an unfavorable opinion of him (50% "very unfavorable" and 8% "somewhat unfavorable"), and 5% have a neutral opinion.

Eighty-five percent of Republicans have a favorable opinion of the president (62% "very favorable" and 23% "somewhat favorable"), while 83% of Democrats have an unfavorable opinion of Trump (73% "very unfavorable" and 10% "somewhat unfavorable"). Among independents, 38% have a favorable opinion (25% "very favorable" and 13% "somewhat favorable"), while 51% have an unfavorable opinion (43% "very unfavorable" and 8% "somewhat unfavorable").

Statewide, 36% also approve of the job Trump is doing as president (24% "strongly approve" and 12% "somewhat approve"), while 59% disapprove of the job he's doing in D.C. (52% "strongly disapprove" and 7% "somewhat disapprove"), and 5% offer no opinion.

Trump Approval

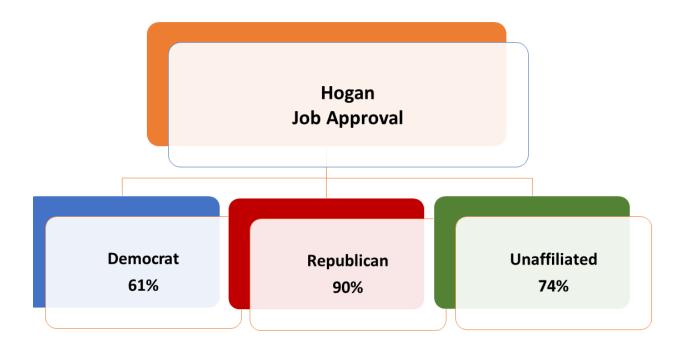

Eighty-four percent of voters who have a "very favorable" opinion of Trump "strongly approve" of the job he is doing, while 88% of those who have a "very unfavorable" opinion of Trump "strongly disapprove" of the job he's doing.

Larry Hogan

Conversely, Governor Larry Hogan remains very popular with Maryland voters: 64% have a favorable opinion of Hogan (46% "very favorable" and 18% "somewhat favorable"), while 19% have an unfavorable opinion of the governor (8% "very unfavorable" and 11% "somewhat unfavorable"), and 13% have a neutral opinion of Hogan. By party, 87% of Republicans have a favorable opinion of Hogan (74% "very favorable" and 13% "somewhat favorable"), while only 5% have an unfavorable opinion; 65% of independents have a favorable opinion of him (43% "very favorable" and 22% "somewhat favorable"), while 19% have an unfavorable opinion; and, significantly, 53% of Democrats have a favorable opinion of the governor (33% "very favorable" and 20% "somewhat favorable"), while 27% have an unfavorable opinion (12% "very unfavorable" and 15% "somewhat unfavorable") of the governor.

Seventy-one percent approve of the job Hogan is doing (41% "strongly approve" and 30% "somewhat approve"), while 21% disapprove (10% "strongly disapprove" and 11% "somewhat disapprove"), with 8% giving no response.

Ben Jealous

Among Maryland voters three months before the election, 31% have a favorable opinion of Ben Jealous (17% "very favorable" and 14% "somewhat favorable"), while 33% have an unfavorable opinion of the Democratic primary winner (20% "very unfavorable" and 13% "somewhat unfavorable"), 21% have a neutral opinion of Jealous, and 15% do not yet recognize his name. By party and race:

Jealous Name ID	Favorable	Unfavorable	Don't Recognize
Democrat	46%	15%	10%
Republican	6%	71%	17%
Unaffiliated	21%	31%	26%
White	26%	41%	12%
African-American	40%	15%	21%

Jealous has not received a discernible bounce off his impressive primary win 6 weeks ago. He does not possess majority affirmative regard among any demographic group, including his party base of Democrats (46% favorable), and its most loyal constituency, African-Americans (40% favorable).

He will need to figure out a way to begin acquiring some positive political juice over the next four weeks to get his head above water heading into the fall campaign.

November Election

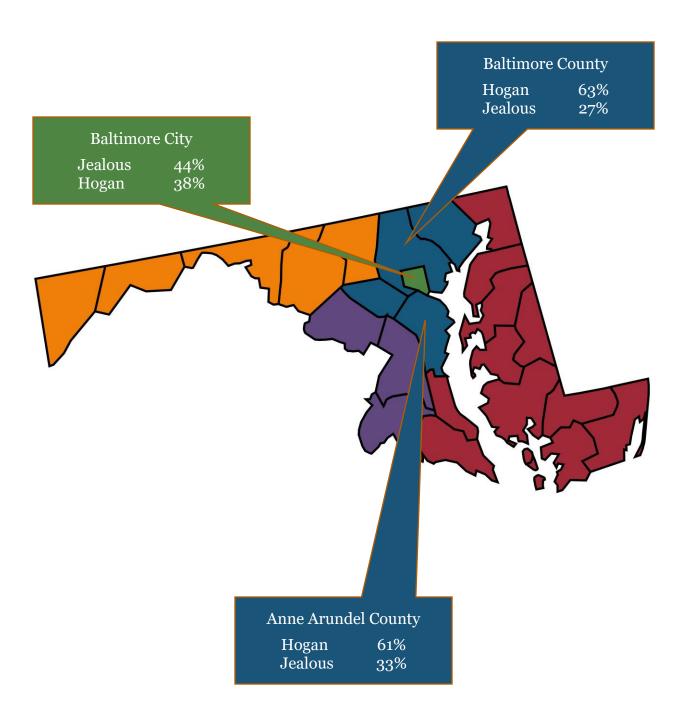

If the election were held today, GOP Governor Larry Hogan would be reelected in blue Maryland.

Statewide, 52% support Republican Hogan, 36% support Democrat Jealous, 1% say they'll vote for either Libertarian candidate Shawn Quinn or Green Party candidate Ian Schlakman, and 11% are undecided.

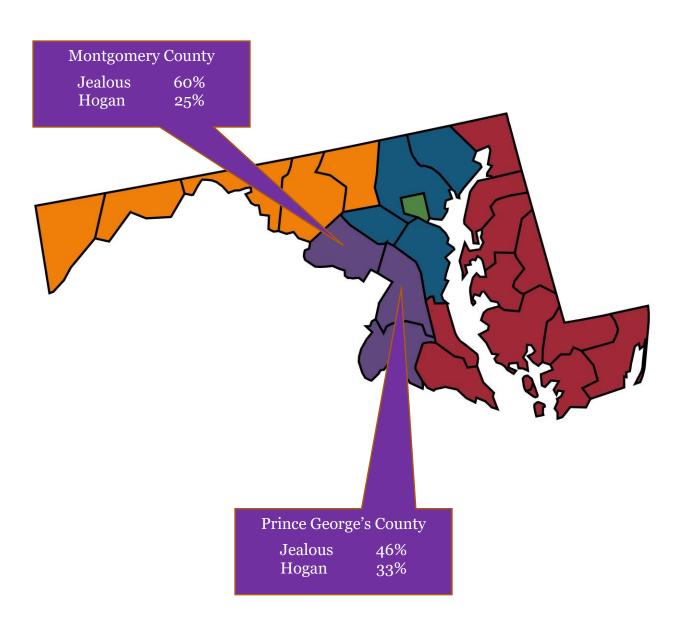

Hogan leads Jealous 92%-3% among Republicans and 60%-29% among independents. The governor captures 56% of men and 49% of women; 62% of white voters; 59% in Baltimore metro; and 59% of voters 55 and older.

Jealous is up among Democrats, 55% to 29%; African-Americans, 53% to 27%, and in the Washington metro region, 52% to 31%. The two are tied, at 42%, among voters under the age of 45.

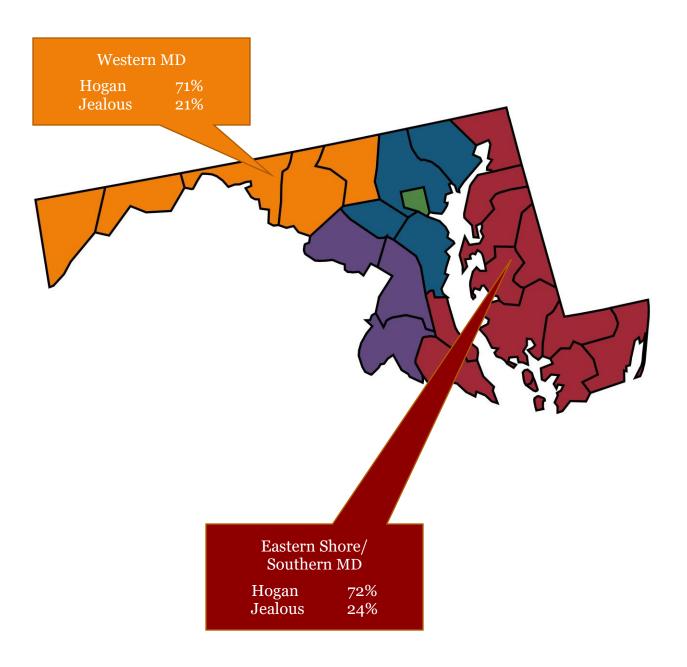

Baltimore Metro - Governor Election

Washington Metro - Governor Election

Rural Maryland - Governor Election

We explored voter views to see if antagonism toward Trump might give Jealous' campaign a spark, and help in his bid to become Maryland's governor. Trump's negatives might ultimately help Jealous, but only marginally.

Just 13% overall of those not yet voting for Jealous say they would "consider voting for Democratic gubernatorial candidate Ben Jealous as a way to express disapproval of Donald Trump." With Democrats, only 26% not yet voting for Jealous say they would consider doing so simply to protest Trump.

Direction of the State

Among November voters, 63% think that things in the state are moving in the right direction, while 21% say things are off on the wrong track, and 16% give no opinion.

Direction of State	Right Direction	Wrong Track
Men	66%	19%
Women	60%	24%
White	68%	18%
African-American	53%	29%
Democrat	57%	27%
Republican	77%	11%
Unaffiliated	57%	21%

Sixty-six percent of those who think things in the state are moving in the right direction are voting for Hogan, while 62% of those who think things are off on the wrong track are voting for Jealous

Brett Kavanaugh Supreme Court Nomination

Maryland voter attitudes toward the nomination of Brett Kavanaugh to the Supreme Court are in direct relationship to their mindset toward the person who nominated him.

Statewide, 37% think the U. S. Senate should vote to confirm Kavanaugh to the Court, while 46% do not think the Senate should confirm him, and 17% have no opinion.

Ninety-seven percent of Marylanders who "strongly approve" of the job Donald Trump is doing as president think the Senate should confirm Kavanaugh, while 80% of those who "strongly disapprove" of the job Trump is doing as president think the U.S. Senate should not confirm Kavanaugh.

Trump Economic Policies

Ditto on there being a straight line link between antipathy or affinity toward Trump the person and condemnation or commendation toward his economic policy program.

Statewide, 38% think President Trump's economic policies are good for them and their family's financial situation, while 53% think Trump's economic policies are bad for them and their family's financial situation.

Ninety-four percent of those who "strongly approve" of the job Trump is doing think the policies are good, while 92% of those who "strongly disapprove" of Trump think his economic policies are bad.

(SMH) Results herein on the Kavanaugh nomination and Trump's economic program raise a couple of cardinal questions...are we truly thinking for ourselves, or are we simply letting ourselves be shepherded like sheep? And, more pointedly, do the mass of us, oft misattributed to Thoreau, "lead lives of quiet desperation and die with our song still inside us?"
